About The Founders and Birth Of The “Ag Heritage Park”

Living the farm life, Everett and Hazel have a natural passion for collecting antique farm machinery, as well as items that portray historic ag life. The “Ag Heritage Park” is the culmination of Everett and Hazel’s efforts to collect memorabilia that commemorates ag life.

As Everett became somewhat retired from farming he began visiting area farmers and attending farm auctions all over the state, acquiring an extraordinary display of a wide variety of farming implements from the 1800’s through the 1960’s.

As the collection grew, their ambition to display a more complete rendition of farm heritage grew. The collection grew to include a two room farm house, a log cabin and a one room school house, all from the 1885 era. Two museum buildings house many items that portray historic ag life, from machinery to many household items.

There are currently on display hundreds of pieces of horse drawn and early tractor machinery, both outside and inside the museum buildings.

We hope you will enjoy the display, and plan for a return visit, as the collection continues to grow.
